AMS API Modifications

December 1, 2004

Introduction, page 1

The statement of agreement between the licensee and the USPS has been revised, eliminating the effective date of the license.

Exhibit A: Product Fees and Descriptions, page 19

The Factor Table was moved from Exhibit B: Operating Platforms and Factor Table, page 23 of the January 2004 License Agreement to Exhibit A: Product Fees and Descriptions, page 19 of the current License Agreement.

Exhibit B: Operating Platforms and Factor Table, page 21

Under Operating Platforms, a code and description for SUN 64-bit (S64) was added. The Factor Table and discontinued platforms were deleted.

Address Matching System Application Program Interface (AMS API) Developer's Kit, page 20 in the January 2003 License Agreement, page 19 in the current License Agreement

This section combined the Address Matching System Application Program Interface (AMS API) and the Delivery Point Validation Application Program Interface (DPV API) Developer's Kit. This section further explains that this kit is required to access both products. The kit includes one AMS ZIP + 4 database license, one DPV database license, operating platform and six (6) bi-monthly CD-ROMs for AMS API and DPV API.

Delivery Point Validation Application Program Interface (DPV API) Developer's Kit, page 21 in the January 2003 License Agreement

This section was combined with Address Matching System Application Program Interface (AMS API) Developer's Kit.

Exhibit D: Use Restrictions of Address Matching System Files and Directories, page 23

The Directories section was revised with an addition of S64 to the list of subdirectories. The following subdirectories were deleted: OS2, MAC, SCO and HP.

Section 2.5 A and B was revised to state included in the annual subscription fees in the Licensee's Internal Software and Licensee's Product for End Users are six (6) bi-monthly AMS API and AMS DPV CD-ROM discs.
